operation, because the disease is a virulent poison in the blood, circulating throughout the system, and although the sore or ulcer-known as the Cancer-may be cut away, the poison remains in the blood, and promptly breaks out afresh, with renewed violence. The wonderful success of S. S. S. in curing obstinate, deep-seated blood diseases which were considered incurable, induced a few despairing sufferers to try it for Cancer, after exhausting the skill of the physicians without a cure. Much to their delight S. S. S. proved found for deadly Cancer. Evidence has accumulated which is incontrovertible, of which the following is a specimen :

"Cancer is hereditary in our family, my father, a sister and an aunt having died from this dreadful disease. My feelings may be imagined when the horrible disease made its appearance on my side. It was a malignant Cancer, eating inwardly in such a way as to cause great alarm. The disease seemed be ind the skill of the doctors, for their treatment did no good whatever, the Cancer growing worse all the while.

Numerous remedies were used for it, but the Cancer grew steadily worse, until it seemed that I was doomed to follow the others of the family, for I know how deadly Cancer is, especially when inherited. I was advised to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which, from the first day, forced out the poison. I continued its use until I had taken eighteen bottles, when I was cured sound and well, and have had no symptoms of the dreadful affliction, though many years have elapsed. S. S. S. is the only cure for Cancer.—Mrs. S. M. Idol, Winston, N. C.

CHATHAM'S BIG DAY. THE UNVEILING OF THE CONFEDE-

RATE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

CROWD

The Residences of the Town Prettily Decorated - The Parade - Senator John W. Daniel the Orator-A Fine Address.

DANVILLE, VA., June 8 .- (Special.)-To-day will be memorable in the history of Chatham, Pittsylvania county, by reason of the unveiling of a statue monument to the Confederate dead of Company 1, Fifty-third Virginia Infantry, Pickett's Division, and to the survivors of that command. The monument project, inaugurated twenty years ago by Company I Memorial Association, was taken up two years ago by the Rawley Martin Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, and the finished work was formall; exposed to view to-day in the presence of nearly four thousand persons. The residences of the town were prettily decorated with Confederate and national flags and bunting, and ample preparations had been made for the accommodations of the multitude which poured into town by rail and every road. Among the spec tators were about two hundred ex-Confederates and about twenty survivors of Company I, including Colonel Rawley W.

Martin, third carre n of the command.

THE PARADE. About 11 o'clock the procession escorting the guest of honor and pretor of the day Senator John W. Daviel, passed along Main street to the monument site, in Court-house Square. Chief-Marshal J. Hunt Hargrove and aides were followed by a band; veterans on foot; carriages Swanson, the four young lady unveilers Daughters of the Confederacy and Monument Association in vehicles, and the thirteen young ladies representing Con federate States-viz.; Virginia, Nellie Lucke; North Carolina, Nellie Carter; Lucke; North Carolina, Nellie Carter; South Carolina, Maude Carter; Georgia, Lizzie Watson; Florida, Belle Gilmer Alabama, Nellie Dyer; Tennessee, Nellie Jones; Arkansas, Lizzie Coleman; Mis-souri, Lucy Dabney; Louisiana, Alice Coleman, Kentucky, Mary White; Texas, Pansy Corbin; Mississippi, Miss Riudie. THE ORATION.

The exercises began with prayer by Rev. Chiswell Dabney, after which Colo hel Martin gracefully introduced Sena-tor Daniel. The Senator was at his best and for two hours held the large audience's attention. His oration was pro-nounced by many of his admirers the best they had ever heard. He paid a fine tribute to the Confederate soldiers and their leaders. He reviewed the Gettysburg campaign, in which Company I figured conspicuously, eulogized the war women of the South and their daughters, and commended the record of Virginia troops in the Spanish war. His peroration was a beautiful figure, comparing the character of the Confederate soldier, but dimly perceived through the veil of pre judice, to the velled marble figure, and predicting that truth would finally unveil

Its grandeur to an admiring world.

Immediately following the oration,
Misses Alice Carter, Rebecca Tredway,
Parke Whitehead, and Nellie Martin simultaneously pulled the cords that re-moved the veil disclosing the monument to view. The monument is twenty-three feet high, with a base of rough granite eight feet square. The die block and columns are polished granite. On this stands a life-size figure of the soldier at rest, sculptured in Italian marble.

MASONIC HOME SCHOOL!

Interesting Closing Exercises Yes terday-The Year's Work.

The Board of Governors and the Ladies Auxiliary Association of the Masonic Home of Virginia met at that institution at 11 o'clock yesterday to attend the regu-lar meeting of the board, the closing exbration of Children's-Day. Noticeable among the visitors at the home, and the attendance was good, were Coloned J. V. Bidgood and Captain John F. Mayer.

After a short executive session of the Board of Governors, they repalied to the Home chapel, where the exercises were beid. After a most appropriate prayer by Rev. R. A. Goodwin, of St. John's church, the interesting programme, arranged for the occasion by Mrs. W. S. Murray was most excellently carried out by the children, consisting principally in song and recitation. At its conclusion, Judge Wellford presented these medals in home Educational Committee, annuanced that four medals would be given-two to girls for scholarship and deportment, and two to boys for the same distinction. Judge Wellford presented these medals in home, No. 23 lowa Circle, with his bride next week, and later they will visit relatives of Commodore Mayo in Virginia. I learned to-day that, Mrs. Hall was a Miss Glover, a member of a family well-known in Maryland. When very young she married Mr. Hall, who was in business with her brother in Washington. A few years a very close competitor of Allen McCabe's for the scholarship medal. The report of the chairman of the Educational Committee shows that fine progress was made in the school under the efficient control of the teacher, Mr. Boggs, who has shown himself to be a fine trainer of young milds. The educational and religious training of the children of the home and the beath of the institution are all wall and carefully looked after by bration of Children's-Day. Noticeable

News of the death of Colonel Bigge was received here with unfeigned regret Lieutenant-Governor Edward Echols sait to the Dispatch correspondent to-day:

"Colonel Bigger was a remarkab man, and a fine type of the old-school o. Virginia gentlemen. In my six years' ser vice in the House of Delegates I hav seen Colonel Bigger under under varioutrying conditions, and he measured up tevery exigency like a man. He was possessed of infinite tact and taste, and had the splendid faculty of reconciling and fairly observing the rights of political opponents without abating one jot of tittle of his own sound political faith In an honest, open-hearted way, he was ever ready to assist anybody. In the closing hours of a session, when all was confusion, his coolness and clarity of mind was invaluable to members of the Legislature. He was an excellent parliamentary questions was often asked for and acted on."

Of Colone Bigger, Judge Cardwell wires the Dis-patch from Wytheville:

patch from Wytheville:

More than a quarter of a century have known and loved John Bell Bigger. In his death I lose a valued friend; the State of Virginia a noble and patriotic son, who has been true to her under al conditions, and his family a husband and father who was ever kind, generous, and affectionate. To find an acceptable successor to him in the office of Clerk of the House of Delegates and Keeper of the Rolls will be a difficult task, for no one-ever discharged the duties of an office more efficiently and pleasantly than he discharged the duties of that important office.

Tribute to Colonel Bigger.

At a meeting of the Richmond Light Infantry Blues' Association held June 8th, the death of Colonel John Bell Bigger was announced, and the following tribute to his memory was adopted:

"Once more the Grim Messenger of Death has invaded our ranks and chose a shining mark. On Wednesday, the uay of June, 1879, the soul of John Bell Bigger, the beloved president of this as-sociation, took its flight, and returned to God, who gave it. "Colonel Bigger, the son of one of the most distinguished and most beloved cap-tains of the Blues, was intimately asso-clated with the organization from his clated with the organization from his very infancy, and no one ever loved it better or served it more fgithfully, whether as a private in the ranks or as the honored president of our association. He needs no eulogy at our hands. His noble deeds, his courtly manners, his gental nature and lofty character are known throughout the Commonwealth he served and loved so well; but we crave the privilege of placing upon his bler this simply tribute of our love and testimonial of our grief.

"Resolved, therefore, That in the death of Colonel John Bell Bisger this association has lost an honored president, one who loved and was dearly beloved by the Richmond Light Infantry Blues.

"Resolved, further, That we extend to his stricken family our tenderest, most heartfelt sympathies.

"Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our minutes. and that a copy thereof be presented to his family."

MANY MESSAGES OF CONDOLENCE

In the list of graduates of the Woman's College, published in yesterday's Dis-patch, the name of Miss Gertrude Clark' should have been Miss Gertrude Frankin Clash.

An interesting game of ball was played at Jefferson-field yesterday evening between the Western Union messenger boys and the Brook-Avenue Sluggers. It was nip and tuck from start to finish, and it look ten innings to decide the victory.
